On 8-31-2010 I (Ben Aldridge) was asked to come out and look at a pressure manifold that was thought to be across the property line at 225 Imperial Rd (Bayview Estates Lot 24). I went out and found that the pressure manifold did seem to be slightly across the property line. I advised the potential buyer not to do anything at that time but that down the road something could come up causing the pressure manifold to have to be moved.