IMPORTANT NOTE: AmazingPlans.com is a broker of house plans, garage plans and multi-family plans. Most house plans are designed in accordance with applicable local home building codes in effect at the time of the creation of house plan designs. The building codes under which these house plans were designed are those in force in the home designer's local region. The customer is responsible to ensure compliance with their local building codes. Local building jurisdictions may require Lateral Analysis or other engineering services performed. These services normally incur an additional charge from the architect, engineer, etc. These services are often best handled by those familiar with your local building codes and other requirements. Construction Sets contain all structural drawings needed to build the house, but not necessarily everything you need to obtain a building permit. Construction sets usually include electrical layouts, but DO NOT include plumbing or mechanical diagrams. Only qualified personnel should undertake any revisions to a house plan set. All structural work, notes, details, etc. are handled by truss plants and/or registered engineers to conform with local building codes. AmazingPlans.com assumes no liabilities for changes or modifications made to house plans by others.

Return Policy: Since it is possible to make illegal copies of the plans you received, we do not allow ANY refunds. You need to make sure of your order before placing it. It is also VERY important that you check the dimensions of your lot or land before selecting a house plan.
